THIS DAY IN HISTORY

4TH JANUARY 1954

Elvis Presley recorded a 10 minute demo at Sun Records Memphis Recording Service in Nashville. He had recorded an acetate recording of the same songs as a gift for his mother in 1953. The Sun Records boss Sam Phillips arranged for him to have an audition on June 26th, 1954. In July, Elvis recorded his first commercial recording for Sun Records in Memphis, 'That's All Right (Mama)' and the rest, as they say, is history.

8TH JANUARY 1940

Great Britain introduces Food Rationing using ration books containing coupons for bacon, butter and sugar. Shortly after tea, jam, biscuits, breakfast cereals, cheese, eggs, milk & canned fruit rationing were introduced. Later, as the war continued, many more items of both food and non-food items were introduced including meat, petrol, clothes, tea & even soap were rationed.
